Genpact will leverage the MindBridge financial intelligence platform across key client engagements to strengthen its ability to identify risks, surface anomalies, and deliver more thorough, data-driven outcomes.

Genpact will leverage the MindBridge financial intelligence platform across key client engagements to strengthen its ability to identify risks, surface anomalies, and deliver more thorough, data-driven outcomes.

"As a market leader in bringing AI-driven transformation to finance and operations, Genpact is the ideal partner to help scale the impact of MindBridge's AI across global enterprises," said Stephen DeWitt, CEO of MindBridge. "By joining forces, we can bring more powerful transformation to finance and accounting organizations that are looking to deepen their risk insight, enhance assurance, and unlock greater value from their financial data."

"Partnering with MindBridge allows us to embed its AI-driven financial intelligence into our client engagements," said Vivek Saxena, SVP, Finance & Risk service line leader at Genpact. "By combining MindBridge's innovative platform with Genpact's risk domain expertise and delivery scale, we enhance our ability to provide clients with full population risk scoring, data-driven exception testing and anomaly and fraud detection, AI-led internal audits, and continuous controls monitoring."

MindBridge, a pioneer in advanced financial analysis at scale, has also expanded its product capabilities with new large language model-driven data ingestion, GPU-accelerated performance, and integrations with Databricks, Microsoft Fabric, and Snowflake, enabling faster, more scalable financial analysis. In parallel, the company continues to deepen its ecosystem through strategic alliances with leading global advisory and managed services firms who are embedding MindBridge technology into their digital audit and assurance offerings to enhance risk detection and audit quality.
